REQUIREMENTS

Students are expected to do all of the assigned reading and attend lectures prepared to engage the material. Students should also monitor current events as they relate to politics and policy during the semester

Reading

Duiker, William J., Contemporary World History, 6th ed. United States: Cengage Learning.

All of the reading assignments listed in the course syllabus are required as are supplemental readings handed out in class and it is critical that you complete each week's reading to fully understand the week's lessons, engage in the discussion, and prepare for the assignments and exams.

Participation

A portion of many classes will be devoted to the discussion of the assigned readings. For your in class participation, please keep in mind that you will be graded not just on the quantity, but also on the quality of your contributions. This requires that you come to class prepared, having read and thought about the material for which you are responsible. Remember, you are responsible for providing the substance of our discussions. I am merely here to guide and to pose questions.

Essays

Weekly opinion papers and three short essays will be required; further information for these assignments will be distributed in class.

Tests

There will be a mid-term and a final exam.

GRADING POLICY

Essays – 30% of grade
Mid-Term Exam – 20% of grade
Final Exam - 30% of grade
Participation/Weekly Opinion Papers – 20% of grade

LATE WORK POLICY

Late work will not be accepted.

INCOMPLETE POLICY

Students may receive an “I” if, at least 90 percent (or as otherwise designated within the course syllabus), of the coursework is completed with an average grade of 2.0 to meet the objectives as specified in the course syllabus. The course objectives are to be satisfactorily completed during the next semester or within a shorter period of time as determined by the instructor. The instructor and student shall work together to determine when the work is to be completed taking into consideration any extenuating circumstances which may cause the one semester to be extended; however, a due date is required and may not exceed one year. If the student does not complete the course within the designated period, the Registrar will replace the “I” grade with the earned grade as originally assigned by the instructor on the Incomplete Grade form after one year.

The grade of “I” is not awarded to students who did not attend, or seldom attended, or to those who simply are not pleased with their final grades. Students receiving an “I” submit only the remaining work that had not been completed at the end of the semester. Students do not redo work that had already been graded or re-register for the course.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

Academic Honesty: Is defined as ethical behavior that includes student production of their own work and not representing others' work as their own, by cheating or by helping others to do so. Plagiarism and cheating are serious offenses, and the consequences for doing so will be at the least, a zero for the assignment, and possibly for the course.

CLASSROOM ETIQUETTE AND PROFESSIONALISM

Since the classroom is a learning community, students are expected to show mutual respect and consideration. I see students as professionals, and treat them with the respect I would my colleagues. In return, I expect that I am treated with professionalism and courtesy, and that students treat their classmates with respect as well. Disruptions (including late arrivals) are unfair to students who are here to learn and will not be tolerated. After the instructor informs you of inappropriate or distracting behavior, you will be allowed to modify your actions. Each subsequent offense may result in the lowering of your average by 2 percentage points.

Students are expected to:

- Be on time for class. If late arrival was unavoidable, get prepared before you enter the room accordingly: remove notebook, pen/pencil etc. from your bag before you come in and sit as close to the door as possible. If you know you must leave early-talk to the instructor before class, sit as close to the door as possible and exit quickly and quietly.
- Refrain from talking or whispering with others (REGARDLESS OF TOPIC) or interrupting the instructor, this is rude to others as well as the instructor
- Raise your hand to ask a question
- Treat others the way THEY wish to be treated
